OS Landranger Map: 165 (Aylesbury & Leighton Buzzard)

OS Explorer Map: 181 (Chiltern Hills North)

Walk Notes:

This walk through some scenic northerly parts of Aylesbury Vale combines tranquil stretches of the Thame Valley Walk with more energetic climbs and nice vistas in between, heading north through Upper Winchenden and the Rothschild's Waddesdon estate, finally along a long tree-lined avenue up to Waddesdon Manor, situated on a prominent hill. After lunch at the Manor or in Waddesdon village, Eythrope Park (another Rothschild estate) is passed and the route follows the Thame River and Bear Brook into Aylesbury.

The high percentage of hard-surface walking is down to the long approach from Haddenham and to Aylesbury stations, as well as the estate roads of Waddesdon and Eythrope, although the latter largely have walkable grassy verges.

An extended visit of Waddesdon Manor House and Gardens can be combined with a bus service back to Aylesbury (for details see below).

Walk options:

The Marsh Gibbon to Aylesbury bus route 16 passes through Waddesdon and offer an option for a shorter walk, especially useful if planning an extended visit of Waddesdon Manor's Gardens and Manor House. They take you to or from Aylesbury station (roughly hourly Mon-Sat). The nearest stop is at The Lion pub mentioned in the walk notes.

Waddesdon Manor also runs a shuttle bus to Aylesbury Vale Parkway rail station (one stop further up the line than Aylesbury and with less frequent service) mid-afternoon, for details see the 'Your Visit' chapter on their website.

The walk also offers one Shortcut and two Alternative Endings:

- one Shortcut just before lunch (cuts 2.5 km and 58m descent/re-ascent, 5/10 rating);
- one Alternative Ending at Aylesbury Vale Parkway station, one stop further up the line than Aylesbury and with less frequent service (cuts 5.4 km and 2.2 km tarmac, 5/10 rating) [this can be even shorter if following the all-tarmac 'Waddesdon Greenway', see text for details];
- one Alternative Ending at a bus stop in Stone village (with a pub next door) for frequent services to Aylesbury (cuts 2.4 km and 2 km tarmac, 6/10 rating).

Notes:

Haddenham

The village name is Anglo-Saxon Hæðanhām, "Hæða's Homestead" or, perhaps Hædingahām, "the home of the Hadding tribe". Haddenham is renowned for its ponds which were used to breed Aylesbury ducks, and it is also the home of Tiggywinkles, the animal welfare charity and veterinary hospital.

Outer Aylesbury Ring

An 85 km/53 mile circular Long Distance Walk along the higher ground around the outside of the original Aylesbury Ring to produce a walk with good views through pleasant countryside and passing through many delightful villages and towns. Launched in 2013 and created by Aylesbury & District Ramblers, who have also produced leaflets, detailing 14 sections plus separate linked circular walks.

<https://sites.google.com/site/outeraylesburyring/> .

Wychert

Haddenham is known nationally as one of only a few wychert (or whitchet) villages. Wychert is Anglo-Saxon in origin (wit chert), meaning 'white earth', and refers to the local clay soil deposits. It describes a method of construction using the wetted clay mixed with straw to make walls and buildings, which are then thatched or topped with red clay tiles. The method is similar to that of a Cob building. To maintain the rigid nature of wychert it must not become too dry for risk of crumbling, nor too wet for risk of turning to slime. Keeping wychert well ventilated and not subject to excess condensation is therefore highly recommended. Render applied to a wychert wall must be of a breathable material – a lime based render is common practice. One of the largest Wychert structures is Haddenham Methodist Church.

Wychert Way

A 21 km (13 mi) waymarked, circular walk around Haddenham linking the surrounding Wychert villages and pubs of Cuddington, Chearsley and Long Crendon. Waymarked paths link the centre of Haddenham and the station to the walk.

River Thame

Nowadays seen as a 65 km (40 mi) long tributary of the longer Thames, there is a school of thought saying that the Thames upstream of Dorchester, where the Thame joins it, is called Isis, and that the Thames is only the confluence of Isis and Thame. What seems certain is that all three names go back to the Celtic "Tamesas/Tamesis" (probably meaning "dark"). The Thame's source is several small streams in the Vale of Aylesbury on the north side of the Chiltern Hills. These streams converge north-east of Aylesbury.

Waddesdon Manor

One of the seven great houses built in the Vale of Aylesbury by the Rothschilds in the second half of the 19th century (the others being: Aston Clinton, Tring, Ascott, Eythrope, Mentmore Towers and Halton). Waddesdon Manor, set in formal gardens and an English landscape park, was built on a barren hilltop overlooking Waddesdon village by Baron Ferdinand de Rothschild (1839-1898) on farmland bought in 1874. He wanted a country retreat built in the style of a turreted Loire Valley châteaux and engaged the French architect Gabriel-Hippolyte Destailleux. It was meant to house his superb art collection and entertain the fashionable world.

Bequeathed to the NT in 1957 with the largest endowment the Trust had ever received, the Rothschilds ensured the family's continued involvement by naming a family member as the chairwoman of the management committee. To this day it is managed by a family charitable trust. As a family, the Rothschilds were the greatest art collectors of the 19th century, and the collection continues to grow through the patronage of family trusts.

Several films have been shot here, including the Carry On film Don't Lose Your Head, the Indian film Kabhi Khushi Kabhi Gham, and The Queen, in which interiors and the gardens doubled for Buckingham Palace. Waddesdon Manor has also been used in several television series. The house stood in for the exterior of the fictional Haxby Park in the second season of Downton Abbey (the interior was filmed at Halton House) and as Snow White's and Prince Wendell's castle in the TV mini-series The Tenth Kingdom. It was used as the O'Connell family's home in the film The Mummy: Tomb of the Dragon Emperor, and as the front part of the 'Hotel du Triomphe' in Sherlock Holmes: A Game of Shadows.

Tramway Trail

A waymarked circular 10 km (6 mi) trail linking Quainton, Westcott and Waddesdon, partly following the course of the old Brill Tramway. <http://www.buckscc.gov.uk/media/951932/tramway.pdf>

North Buckinghamshire Way

A 53 km (33 mi) waymarked linear path from the Ridgeway near Pulpit Hill to the Grafton Way on the Northants border.

The Aylesbury Ring

A circular 50 km (31 mi) waymarked circular Long Distance Walk around Aylesbury, through Wendover, Waddesdon and Aston Clinton, in parts sharing its course with the North Bucks Way.

Bernwood Jubilee Way

A 98 km (61 mi) waymarked circular Long Distance trail from Brill, Bucks, developed by the Bernwood Ancient Hunting Forest Project within the ancient Forest boundary. Brill's close association with Bernwood, as its administration centre, gave it an importance throughout the history of the royal forest and thus makes it an ideal starting/finishing point. The most northerly points of the route are near Oxford and Buckingham, the most southerly just north of Thame.

Opened in 2002, Queen Elizabeth's Golden Jubilee Year.

Bernwood Forest

One of several forests of the ancient Kingdom of England and a Royal hunting forest. It is thought to have been set aside as Royal hunting land when the Anglo-Saxon kings had a palace at Brill and church in Oakley, in the 10th century and was a particularly favoured place of Edward the Confessor, who was born in nearby Islip.

From about 1217 through to the 17th century the forest went through a gradual period of deforestation.

Swan's Way

A 106 km (66 mi) waymarked linear Long Distance Path from the Northants border near Milton Keynes through Bucks to the Ridgeway National Trail near Princes Risborough and along the Chilterns to Goring-on-Thames, Oxon.

Midshires Way

A 362 km (225 mi) waymarked linear Long Distance Path from Bledlow, Bucks to Stockport, Greater Manchester, linking the Ridgeway National Trail with the Trans Pennine Trail across the shires of Middle England.

Eythrope Park

Eythrope is Anglo Saxon in origin, and means "island farm", referring to an island in the River Thame that flows by the hamlet. The medieval village is deserted and all that remains are some earthen banks and ditches on the eastern side of Eythrope Park. The estate was bought in the 1870s by a branch of the Rothschild family, and belongs to them to this day. It provides a parkland setting for Waddesdon Manor as an ancillary property, Eythrope Pavilion had been constructed for Alice de Rothschild by the architect George Devey. The Thame was dammed in the 1880s to create the lake.

Thame Valley Walk

A 24 km (15 mi) waymarked linear Long Distance Path along the Thame Valley from Aylesbury to Albury, linking the North Bucks Way with the Oxfordshire Way.

Round Aylesbury Walk

A circular 20 km (12 mi) waymarked walk closely circling around Aylesbury.

Aylesbury

The town's name is of Old English origin, its first recorded name Æglesburgh is thought to mean "Fort of Aegel".

Excavations in the town centre even found an Iron Age hill fort dating from the 7th century BC. Aylesbury was one of the strongholds of the Celtic Britons, from whom it was only taken in the year 571 by Cutwulph, brother of the King of the West Saxons; and it had a fortress or castle of some importance.

The Roman Akeman Street, linking Watling Street north of St. Albans with Cirencester, led through here (nowadays as the A41), providing the grounds for it becoming an important commercial centre in Anglo-Saxon times. It is also the burial place of St. Osgyth, a local noblewoman (from Quarrendon) martyred by Danish Vikings in 700, whose shrine at St. Mary's attracted pilgrims.

Aylesbury was declared the county town of Buckinghamshire in 1529 by Henry VIII, presumably to gain favour with Anne Boleyn's father, whose many properties included Aylesbury Manor.

The town played a large part in the English Civil War, when it became a stronghold for the Parliamentary forces, and in 1642 the Battle of Aylesbury was fought and won by the Parliamentarians.

Nowadays the urban area has a population of 75,000, doubled since the 1960s due to new housing developments, and it is projected to rise by another 25,000 in the next ten years!

Aylesbury Vale Parkway Station

Aylesbury Vale Parkway is a new station on the former Metropolitan and Great Central Joint Railway, which formed part of the Great Central Main Line route linking London and Aylesbury with the East Midlands and the North. Its build was co-funded in 2006 by the Government, Chiltern Railways and Bucks Council and opened late 2008. It not only serves new housing developments on Aylesbury's north western fringes, but will also be a stop on the new East West Rail spur, planned to extend passenger services northwards to Bletchley and Milton Keynes by 2017.

WALK DIRECTIONS

In 140m pass an orange Wychert Way Link marker on a low wooden post on the right. In 25m turn left at a T-junction with a gravel lane opposite 8 Townsend, following an Outer Aylesbury Ring marker. In 15m reach a village green and fork right to continue along a road (Townsend initially, then Rudds Lane). In 170m turn left along Rosemary Lane, with a Wychert Way Link marker on a telegraph pole on the right. In 130m, just after passing a house called The Allondon on the left, turn left off the tarmac lane by a small footpath marker on the right (Cuddington 1¼, Chearley 1½) and in 15m go through a wooden kissing gate (320°). Continue in the same direction when the path emerges into a field, on a raised grassy margin with a boundary hedge on the right. With a bit of luck and the right weather you can see glider airplanes taking off from – or landing at – Haddenham Airfield on the left.

In 680m leave the field in its far right corner through a gap in the boundary hedge by the busy A418 (Oxford to Aylesbury). Cross the road and continue in the same direction through a metal gate into a narrow grassy fenced-in path between fields. Views are opening up across the Thame Valley towards the hillock range you have to cross before lunch. Continue in the same direction downhill for 450m, first through a grassy field, then into a wooded strip and then another grassy field, going through a few metal gates along the way. Leave this last field at the bottom of the valley across Dad Brook and go through a metal kissing gate into the adjacent field. Follow Wychert Way Link and Public Footpath markers half right across this field (350°) along a usually well-cleared path towards a corner half way up the rise in front of you.

In 200m leave the field in this corner over a stile into a grassy path through a wooded area with fields on either side behind the trees. In 125m ignore a path forking right and down to soon emerge from the wooded area over a stile into a narrow grassy field. Turn left towards the upper right hand corner of the field (340°). In 110m cross a stile into another field and follow markers across it towards a stile 200m away (60°). Over the stile veer left past allotments and over a stile to the right of a metal field gate into a field and cross it diagonally to the left of a large telegraph pole towards the houses of Cuddington (15°). In 135m leave the field in its corner and veer left on a tarmac lane towards a road and turn right along the pavement. In 50m, just before a bus stop, turn sharp left across a grassy area following a footpath marker hidden in a hedge on the left, and continue along a concrete lane between houses, soon with a field on the left.

In 250m at the end of the last garden on the right, turn right off the concrete lane at a footpath T-junction, along a wide grassy field boundary, now with more gardens on the right. On your left you have views along and across the Thame Valley towards Winchendon, of your onwards route before lunch and the Aylesbury Astronomical Society's observatory on the hill chain half left. In 140m turn left and down in the field corner along its boundary before crossing the outflow of a series of ponds on the right. In 330m leave the field in the far right bottom corner over a redundant stile into a fenced in grassy path. In 130m continue over a set of stiles in the same direction (ignore another stile on the right) along the right hand boundary of the next grassy field. In 190m in the far right field corner cross the Thame over a two-railed wooden plank bridge (with metal gates either side). Continue through another grassy field and over raised wooden planks (to cross an often muddy area in the field corner) to then cross a stile and emerge on a gravel path by a large house (The Old Mill).

At the house corner ignore footpath signs on a metal pole about 30m to the left and a car wide track turning right between house and barn, [!] instead turn right along a field boundary towards a footpath sign and a marker on a wooden pole left of the concrete barn 30m away. Follow the marker across a large field along a usually well-cleared path, towards another footpath sign by a two-metal-railed footbridge over a stream 390m away (80°). Veer left across a smaller field and leave it in the far corner through a metal gate left of a metal field gate. Continue in this pasture towards a stile on its far side (45°). In 160m cross a set of stiles into the next pasture and follow its right hand boundary. In 90m cross another stile onto a wooden plank bridge over a stream and continue in the same direction in the next pasture. In 185m cross a further stile left to a metal field gate to continue past a farm track towards a stile in a hedge 25m away.

[!] Turn left on either side of this stile and walk along the hedge and away from the river, gently uphill (20°), broadly following the same direction for 1.8 km all the way up the valley. In more detail: in 225m walk through a metal kissing gate left of a metal field gate. In the next field veer left towards another metal kissing gate to the left of two metal field gates 165m away. Past the gate follow the right hand grassy boundary of the next field for 390m to leave it over a set of stiles 20m left of its far right corner. Leave the next field in its far right corner over a stile in the right hand hedge to turn left and cross a set of stiles either side of a two-railed wooden plank bridge over a brook.

Cross the road to proceed down School Lane, ignoring a footpath marker pointing half right into a field. In 150m at a four-way footpath junction turn right across a stile into a grassy field to ignore the furthest right footpath towards a church. Rather follow the second-furthest right footpath across the field and through a dip towards some tree tops (on a bearing of 20°) for 320m. Eventually you can spot a metal kissing gate left of a wooden field gate. Go through it into the adjacent large grassy field and continue in the same direction to the right of a fenced-in clump of large trees around a pond 200m away. Continue in your direction past the trees and up an incline until levelling out in 60m (but short of the brow of the rise), when you turn half left towards Waddesden Manor, home of one arm of the Rothschild Dynasty, up on Lodge Hill.

Head towards the manor house for 1 km along what turns out to be a ceremonial avenue between rows of trees, first descending to go through a metal kissing gate in 310m, then in 340m crossing a brook at the bottom of this valley then re-ascending. [!] 350m after the brook crossing (at a T-junction with a footpath joining from left and behind through a metal gate in a boundary fence), just after being able to see the turrets and towers of the manor house again, [!] turn half right (15°) towards a yellow marker on a low wooden pole by a tree on the right. Follow the right-of-way through another wooden gate on the right into a wooded area. In 65m emerge from the wood through a gap in a wooden fence and onto an estate road.

For a shortcut to the lunch options, turn right here (for details see the end of the main walk directions under Shortcut).

In 580m at an unmarked T-junction with a footpath (when just being level with the manor house up right) leave the bridleway and [!] turn right through a very-easy-to-miss metal kissing gate and across an un-railed plank bridge into a grassy field. Follow its right hand boundary uphill and in 360m in the field corner walk through a metal kissing gate into the next field. Continue in the same direction, but in 210m turn right through a kissing gate and then over an un-railed wooden plank bridge and over a stile into another field. Veer left (55°) to cut across the corner of this field uphill towards a wood, which you enter in 200m with a Tramway Trail marker. In 50m reach the estate road to Waddesden Manor.

For a detour to the Manor House, its Aviary and Gardens, and its various food options, (Note 1: you are leaving the right of way, technically you have to be in possession of a ticket to the grounds [available at the car park, a long way down the driveway] or be an NT member; Note 2: Dogs are not allowed in the grounds) turn left and in 125m turn right up a grassy slope ('Daffodil Valley') along a usually well-mowed path. A suggested route around the grounds is shown on the route map and the gpx file. Pick up the directions below at the asterisk *).

Else turn right (effectively continuing in the same direction) and stay on the estate road for 360m, to a low wooden pole on the right with footpath and Tramway Trail markers.

) [!] Turn half left by a low footpath signpost and marker post on the right, across a grassy area (65°), and head towards a metal kissing gate to the right of (and behind) a clump of some very large fir trees. Past the gate veer left (45°) to another metal kissing gate in 350m and enter a wood. Follow this path through the wood for 210m, crossing a tarmac lane along the way, until you emerge on the estate road (Silk Street) and turn left. The Shortcut joins from the right.

*) You reach the main road though Waddesdon village (High Street) by a war memorial, with the Five Arrows hotel and restaurant on your right. Turn left for the recommended lunch stop The Long Dog 140m away, en route passing St. Michael's and All Angels church on the right, or right – past the 94 Coffee Shop – to the other potential lunch stop The Lion (reached in 200m), where you'll also find the bus stop for services to Aylesbury.

After lunch retrace your steps to the junction of High Street and Silk Street by the war memorial and turn down the Waddesdon Estate road. In 50m a footpath joins from the right out of woods (the morning route), in 180m, 20m before reaching the large wrought-iron entrance gate to the Waddesdon Estate, turn left off the tarmac lane along an earth track by a footpath marker on a low wooden pole. In 50m veer right into a

Leave the field into a wood through a gap in the trees to the right of some remnants of a stile and with a North Bucks Way marker. In 100m leave the wood on an un-railed concrete bridge and past remnants of a metal kissing gate onto a tarmac lane where you turn right. Veer left in 15m and cross a stile into a grassy strip between a large hedge on the left and a farm yard on the right (North Bucks Way, Bernwood Jubilee Way and Aylesbury Ring markers). In 90m turn right through trees just before a field boundary, in 40m passing a two-way marker post and continue along a field boundary and veer right along it (due S) and in 30m reach a new tarmac path running right-to-left from the Waddesdon Manor's car park.

This is the Waddesdon Greenway, leading to Aylesbury Vale Parkway station. It is the shortest of the endings and easy to follow, but it is tarmac all the way (apart from a short stretch where a bridge over the future HS2 line needs to be built first) and not very interesting as a walk. The route is displayed on the route map.

So, rather continue in the same direction and in 15m cross a tarmac estate road and head for a stile between trees 25m away. Cross the stile into a field corner and head up the field in the same direction as before along its right-hand boundary. Leave the field in the top right corner through a gap in the wooden boundary fence into trees. Follow this now meandering path first through trees, then a grassy area, then trees again, to leave the wooded area in 130m in its far left corner over a stile into a grassy field. Head half left across this field (150°) [eventually you'll have views of Aylesbury on the left and of Waddesdon Manor on the right] and leave it over another stile into a fenced-in grassy path which – in 20m – swings left through a wooden gate towards Waddesdon Stud. In 35m pass a horse exerciser (an equine treadmill) on the left and then the stud stables to cross a stile to the right of a double metal gate onto a road in 200m.

Cross the road and continue in the same direction up a tarmac lane. In 420m, near the brow of the hill, a bridleway joins from the left (Swan's Way and Midshires Way), and in 300m you come to a four-way bridleway junction by a house.

Here you have a choice:

For the main walk, continue in the same direction along a grassy track to the right of North Lodge (145°). Turn left in 630m with a Swan's Way marker at a footpath/bridleway junction, into a large field along a wide grassy field boundary and to the right of the boundary hedge (125°). In 400m continue in the same direction at the hedge corner on a wide raised grassy path between fields. In 240m leave the fields to continue in the same direction through a wooden gate. In 250m walk through another wooden gate and reach the tarmac driveway to Eythrope Park in 40m. Turn right along the tarmac lane.

In 240m continue ahead at a junction with a tarmac lane joining from the right. In 250m you turn left with the lane (with a footpath joining from right) and in 180m, by Bridge Lodge (with a footpath joining from right), turn left towards a bridge over the outflow of Eythrope Park's lake (fed by the Thames) and in 65m cross the bridge. In another 65m, [!] just before crossing the Thames River, turn left along a tarmac lane with Thame Valley Walk and North Bucks Way markers, through a wooded area. Once out of the trees, spot Burn Hill 600m away on the right: made from Purbeck Rock, excavations have revealed evidence of Bronze Age burials. In 800m you go through a metal gate to the right of the entrance to Weir Lodge. In 55m cross a two-railed wooden bridge over an arm of the Thames opposite Weir Lodge (built for the Rothschild's boatman) and in 70m cross a two-railed wooden bridge over the re-instated and re-naturalised original course of the Thames (built to encourage fish migration).

In 20m stay with the river and ignore a bridleway turning right through a metal gate. In 120m ignore a footpath turning right and up through a wooden gate but follow a Thame Valley Walk marker through a wooden gate into a field ahead to continue along its left hand grassy boundary (50°). [Alternatively turn left before the gate to continue along the river for 360m; this is 60m longer and not a right-of-way, but clearly regularly walked by locals]. In 300m leave the field through a metal gate to follow the river.

To shorten the walk and cut out the tarmac-heavy ending through Aylesbury (but requiring a bus journey), turn right along the right hand field boundary, gently uphill, and pick up the directions at the end of this text under Alternative Ending in Stone.

For the Main Walk veer right (80°) – and away from the river – in the grassy field, heading for a wooden gate to the right of a metal field gate 250m away. Past the gate continue in the same direction now with a hedge on your right. In 110m in the field corner go through a wooden gate to the left of a metal field gate to continue along a car wide grassy path between barbed wire fence and hedge. In 210m ignore a footpath turning right at the corner of a wood to continue uphill with a Thame Valley Walk marker. In 260m enter this wood to go through a wooden gate in 40m.

In 15m before crossing Bear Brook on a bridge, [!] turn right along a narrow tarmac footpath past a black metal bollard. Ignore a right fork immediately, and in 320m rise up to a road (Arcott Way) to cross it and continue on the tarmac path beside the brook. In 85m ignore a car wide wooden two-railed bridge across the brook to the left, but take steps back down to the brook side path. In 130m fork left to continue along the brook side path. In 90m you cross another wooden bridge over the brook into Brimmers Way and turn right along the pavement (with the brook now on your right). In 55m cross a road and continue to the right of a sports centre. In 75 you cross another road, with The Honey Bee pub on your left.

In 55m cross a two-railed car wide wooden bridge over the brook and [!] turn left immediately with the brook at a T-junction of paths towards a busy road, with school fields on the right. In 65m follow the path around to the right. In 165m fork left and walk under a road to stay with the brook (now on your left), rather than rising to the road and crossing it. In 195m continue ahead on the tarmac path (160°) along a lesser brook and between trees on either side with houses behind, but away from Bear Brook, which swings left, ignoring a bridge and path to the left.

In 240m turn left across a car wide wooden bridge over the small brook and continue ahead away from the brook towards a road (Fowler Road). Turn left at the road along its pavement. In 50m turn right with the road at a junction, eventually straightening out on a bearing of 120° as you pass Chesterfield Place. In 270m at Bearbrook Combined School turn left into St. Anthony's Close. In 75m turn right with the fence around the school ground. In 135m cross a road and continue in the same direction through bike barriers along a tarmac path towards a main road. In 50m fork left to use an underpass to cross the main road and continue with Bear Brook again on your left and Aylesbury College on your right. In 450m turn left at a T-junction and continue up a ramp over the railway. In 125m turn right down steps towards Aylesbury Station.

For tea options continue uphill to a major road junction in 120m. Cross it to continue in the same direction under Friars Square Shopping Mall, soon passing the Central Bus Station on the right, and emerging in a corner of Market Square.

- you'll find chain pubs (The Bell [Wetherspoon] on the left and The Green Man on the right) and some cafés around Market Square and at the top of the square is the recommended well-preserved medieval coaching inn The King's Head in a cobbled court yard, NT-owned but now managed by Chiltern Brewery as their taproom.
- for more options, leave the square at a five-way road junction in its top right corner (with The Harrow 20m on the right into Kingsbury, a quieter square with an elaborate Water Clock, as well as several cafés, pubs and restaurants (La Salute, Buon Amici, The Kingsbury, The Rockwood, Malebon, Café Kingsbury, Emperors Lounge [Brakspear] out through the top right corner of the square, The Coffee Tree and The Queens Head to the left, off the square), or go down left from The Queens Head along Temple Street for the Temple Street Wine Bar in the rooms of the former Aylesbury Literary Club.

Shortcut

(cut 2.5 km and 58m descent/re-ascent just before lunch)

Follow the estate road for 550m to a T-junction with the main estate road and continue in the same direction across a grassy area towards wooden sheds. Continue right past the sheds (the bowling club house) and veer left along the estate road joining from the right. In 190m a footpath turns off right (the afternoon route), and in another 170m a footpath joins from the left out of a wood (the main route). Continue ahead and join the main walk directions at the double asterisk **).

Alternative Ending at Aylesbury Vale (cut 5.4 km, 27m ascent/descent and 2.2 km tarmac in the afternoon)

Follow the tarmac lane to the left with a wood on your right. In 315m turn left over a stile into a grassy field and descend it (due E initially) and then towards the bottom right corner. Cross a stile into a field and cross it to a point about 100m to the left of its far right corner. In 410m cross stiles into the next field and continue towards its far right corner. In 480m meet a wide path (the Waddesdon Greenway) and turn half right along it through a spinney into another field, en route crossing the line of the future HS2-line. Follow its left-hand boundary for 490m (due E), with the path turning tarmac along the way. Leave the field to the left onto a disused road and turn right along it. In 300m where the road turns left towards the A 41, you continue in the same direction along a wide tarmac path. In 20m turn right with the path through some trees and turn left on the other side with the path, parallel to the A road. In 180m you cross the Fleet Marston Brook on a wide two-railed bridge and turn right with the path. In 230m turn left under a low bridge carrying the railway line and turn right on the other side towards Aylesbury Vale Parkway Station 50m away. The Miller & Carter Steakhouse in about 100m away on the left.

Alternative Ending in Stone (cut 2.4 km and about 2 km tarmac at the end)

In 110m you leave the field through a squeeze gate to the left of a metal field gate and continue along the right hand boundary of the next field. In 120m, where the field boundary bears right, you continue in the same direction along a usually well-cleared path through the arable field's corner and in 90m continue in the same direction along a car wide farm track at a bend (this soon crosses an arable field and may be ploughed). Rise gently with the track and in 450m turn left with it to pass some barns of Wadden Hill Farm. In 70m, at a signposted three-way junction of the North Bucks Way and a footpath from the left, turn right past some more barns.

In 55m, by a gap in a fence on the left, turn left into the arable field and follow its right hand boundary, but if there is no walkable boundary, continue in the same direction along the car wide track to the right of the field boundary hedge. Either way in 220m you continue in the same direction (after turning left and right, if you walked to the right of the hedge), with a footpath marker on an electricity pole, along a left hand field boundary.

In 200m you leave this field over an un-railed plank bridge and through a metal kissing gate into the next field and veer ever so slightly left towards the furthest left of three old trees about 100m to the right of some farm buildings. In 150m turn left along the field boundary with a yellow marker on a fence post, and in 70m walk through a squeeze gate to the right of a wooden field gate. In 40m go over a stile to the left of a metal field gate and follow a tarmac lane through Upper Hartwell hamlet and around to the right in 35m. You ignore all ways off and in 280m reach the A418 at a T-junction, with The Rose & Crown pub on the right and a bus stop for services to Aylesbury on the left and to Haddenham opposite a little to the right.
