Tisbury Circular (via Dinton and Fovant)

Start: Tisbury Station

Finish: Tisbury station

Tisbury Station, map reference ST 945 290, is 20 km west of Salisbury, 145 km south west of Charing Cross, 94m above sea level and in Wiltshire.

Length: 23.8 km (14.8 mi), of which 5.0 km (3.1 mi) on tarmac or concrete.

Cumulative ascent/descent: 452m.

For a shorter or longer walk, see below Walk options.

Toughness: 7 out of 10

Time: 5 hours 30 minutes walking time.

For the whole outing, including trains, sights and meals, allow at least 10 ¼ hours.

Transport: Tisbury Station is on the London Waterloo to Exeter St. Davids West of England Main Line. Journey times are 106 minutes Monday to Saturday (hourly) and 114 minutes on Sunday (hourly).

Saturday Walkers' Club: Take the train closest to 9.20 hours.

OS Landranger Map: 184 (Salisbury & The Plain)

OS Explorer Map: 118 (Shaftesbury & Cranborne Chase), 130 (Salisbury & Stonehenge) and 143 (Warminster & Trowbridge).

Walk Notes:

This walk explores the Nadder Valley east of Tisbury, part of the West Wiltshire Downs Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, which is spectacular walking country with some breathtaking open vistas in a varied landscape. Without scaling any ridges or steep ascents, the route meanders through the beautiful undulating and peaceful countryside with a few grassy U-shaped valleys, pretty views out to some distant coombes, and scenic Dinton Park with its grand mansion (Philipps House).

A couple of picturesque former corn mills on the Nadder River are walked past, while the afternoon route also offers views from a wood's fringe across a valley to the Fovant Badges, regimental badges cut into the chalk, and the largest group of hill side figures in Europe, before leading through a couple of quiet villages followed by a gentle descent across fields back into Tisbury, a remarkably unspoilt village.

An extended walk, rated 10/10 and leading through the Fovant Badges up to the ridge of Fovant Down with its Chiselbury Iron Age hill fort site is described.

Walk options:

A Shortcut before lunch reduces the walk by 1.4 km (0.8 mi) and the ascent/descent by 25m.

A Shortcut right after lunch reduces the walk by 1.9 km (1.2 mi) and the ascent/descent by 21m.

Taking both Shortcuts makes this a 6/10 walk.

An Extension to and through the Fovant Badges and up to Fovant Down and the Chiselbury Iron Age hill fort site adds 5.1 km and 154m ascent/descent. Walking the extension makes it a 10/10 walk (9/10 with Shortcut I).

Lunch:

The Wyndham Arms, Hindon Road, Dinton, Salisbury, Wiltshire, SP3 5EG (01722 716 999).

The Wyndham Arms is located 11.4 km (7.1 mi) into the full walk. Opening Times: Tue-Fri 12.00-14.30 and Mon-Fri 18.00-22.00, Sat-Sun 12.00-24.00. Food Service: Tue-Fri 12.00-14.00 and 18.00-20.30, Sat 12.00-15.00 and 18.00-20.30 and Sun 12.00-15.00.

The Penruddocke Arms, Hindon Road, Dinton, Salisbury, Wiltshire, SP3 5EL (01722 716 253, <http://thepenruddockearmsdinton.co.uk/>). The Penruddocke Arms is 1.1 km off route along a busy road.

Opening Times: Mon-Fri 12.00-15.00 and 18.00-22.30, Sat 12.00-23.00, Sun 12.00-17.00. Food Service:

Mon-Fri 12.00-14.00 and 18.00-20.30; Sat 12.00-14.30 and 18.00-20.30 and Sun 12.00-15.00. The Penruddocke Arms is a family run historic inn with an emphasis on freshly prepared food sourced locally, and with a passion for good beer sourced not only from Wiltshire's best brewers. It is named after Colonel John Penruddock (or Penruddocke, 1619–1655), of nearby Compton Chamberlayne, who was an English Cavalier during the English Civil War and the English Interregnum. He is remembered as the leader of the Penruddock uprising in 1655, and was executed for his role in it.

Notes:

Tisbury

A village on the river Nadder, where it is joined by three other streams, Tisbury parish was the largest in south-west Wiltshire until the 19th century. References to the abbot of Tisbury suggest that there was an abbey on what is now the site of the village in the 8th century and the origin of Tisbury parish may be as the estate of such an abbey. Tisbury manor and, from the late 14th century, Tisbury church belonged to Shaftesbury abbey until the Dissolution. The village's 13th century prosperity came from the quarries that produced stone for the building of Salisbury Cathedral, and from the wool that supported a local cloth industry. Unusually for so large a parish no main road crossed Tisbury, and no road in it was turnpiked.

The Salisbury & Yeovil Railway opened a railway across the parish in 1859, it closely followed the Nadder and the Sem. Tisbury parish is not rich in archaeological discoveries, the last three upright stones of what may have been a henge monument were removed from a site near Place Farm ca. 1792, although the name of the field from which they were taken, Lost Stone field, is a corruption of the earlier Low Stone field. Sir Matthew Arundell of Wardour Castle, a great landowner and a cousin of Queen Elizabeth, was entombed in the Tisbury parish church, St John's, in 1598. The churchyard also holds the graves of Rudyard Kipling's parents, and contains one of the oldest trees in Britain, a large yew tree believed to be ca. 4,000 years old.

River Nadder/Vale of Wardour

The River Nadder is one of the chalk streams of southern England, much sought after by fly fishermen because of its clear waters and abundance of brown trout. It is one of the main tributaries of the River Avon, rising from a number of springs and small streams at Donhead St. Mary in south Wiltshire. During the course of its 32 kilometre journey the Nadder meanders and widens gradually until it flows through the park of Wilton House after which the river joins the River Wylye, another tributary of the Avon. For its last few kilometres it passes through the unspoilt water meadows at Harnham on the outskirts of Salisbury, and finally into the River Avon beneath a backdrop of Salisbury Cathedral.

The origin of the name is from Ancient British nootr, "flowing water". Folk etymology derives it from the perceived likeness of its meanderings to an adder, the original Middle English name for which was "nadder". The western end of the Nadder valley is called the Vale of Wardour, and is distinguished by outcrops of oolites (limestone formed during the Jurassic period, found predominantly in the Cotswold Hills and on the Isle of Portland). Outcrops of Portland and Purbeck rocks form the high ground north and south of the Nadder and are extensive, especially those of Upper Portland limestone which have been extensively quarried. Outcrops of Lower Greensand, Gault, and Upper Greensand form even higher ground to the north and south. The underlying clay has been exposed by the Sem and the Nadder as far east as Tisbury village.

Tisbury Mill

The surviving mill is mostly 18th century, with later additions and a small, apparently 18th century, farmhouse is nearby. It stands on the charming site of a much earlier water mill, certainly from the 14th century or even earlier. The stone part of the house to the north was once the Miller's Cottage, formerly two flats, but has now been incorporated into the main house accommodation. It ceased to be a working mill in the 1920's. The interior of the mill retains no original machinery, having been converted to the Tisbury electricity generating station in the 20th century and to a house after WWII.

Teffont Evias/Teffont Magna/Teffont Manor

Teffont Evias forms a combined parish with Teffont Magna, and has been described as "most delightfully situated" and been included in a list of the half dozen most beautiful villages in England.

The name derives from "Teo", an old Germanic (Frisian) word meaning a boundary, and the Late Latin word "fontana", meaning a spring of water. The perennial stream rises at Spring Head at the north end of Teffont Magna, and flows some 2.5 km south to its debouchment into the River Nadder. Early Saxon remains have not been found to the west of the stream, and the original boundary may have separated the Romano-British from the Anglo-Saxons. The "Ewyas" element derives from Ewyas Harold, the main seat of Teffont's lord at the time of Domesday Book. From Saxon times the village has been generally on the valley bottom along the course of the stream; the Teffont Archaeology Project has found remains of a Roman settlement on higher ground.

Teffont Manor House was, until recently, the home of the Mayne family of Exeter and their descendants. It has since been converted into flats. This West Country branch of the Maynes traces its line back to Richard Mayne, a successful brewer and Freeman of the City of Exeter in the 16th century.

Dinton Park/Wick Ball Camp/Philipps House

The Wyndham family came to Dinton in the 17th century, buying the house and park.

Philipps House, a Neo-Grecian house formerly called Dinton House, was built between 1814 and 1817 for William Wyndham (a leading late Georgian politician, 1769-1841) of local Chilmark stone from the same quarry that produced the stone for Salisbury Cathedral 600 years earlier. Designed by Sir Jeffry Wyattville (1766-1840), the house is strikingly simple, deliberately conservative and grand, making it clear that the Wyndhams of Dinton were an old family of some standing.

The house is one of the first in England to have a central heating system installed. This was achieved by pumping hot air from a boiler in the basement into the stairwell. It was renamed Philipps House by new owner Bertram Erasmus Philipps in 1916 who named it after himself, but then granted it to the National Trust in 1943. It is Grade II* listed and currently closed for visitors.

Wick Ball Camp is an Iron Age hillfort, univallate on the north and west sides. The term 'Wick' often indicates the presence of a vicus – a Latin term for a settlement outside the walls of a Roman fort.

Additionally, the term 'ball' often denotes a boundary, and is a shortening of the word 'bailiwick'. Another variant is contained in the phrase 'beyond (outside) the pale', or bail (or in this case 'ball').

Little Clarendon

Little Clarendon is a delightful 15th Century Tudor stone farmhouse once owned by George Engleheart, a famous horticulturist in the early 1900s who introduced many of the most popular daffodils grown today. The house is furnished as it was in their day. The Rev. Engelheart's wife, Mary, converted a bakery in the grounds of the house to create her own Roman Catholic chapel in 1921.

Edward Hyde, the grandfather of two Queens of England, was born at Little Clarendon.

It is now NT-owned, but not open for visitors.

Fovant Badges

The Fovant Badges are a set of regimental badges cut into a chalk hill, Fovant Down. They were created by soldiers garrisoned nearby, and waiting to go to France, during WW I. The first was cut in 1916. Eight of the original twenty remain, and are scheduled ancient monuments and recognised by the Imperial War Museum as war memorials. A Centenary Badge was unveiled for the 100 Year Anniversary in 2016. The Fovant Badge Society holds an annual Drumhead Service which is attended by the Australian High Commissioner, local mayors and members of parliament. These services fund the upkeep of the badges.

To construct the badges, the outlines were cut into the grass-covered hillsides, and were refilled with chalk brought from a nearby slope, up to 50 tons per badge. The badges took an average fifty men six months to complete.

The current badges, from left to right, are: Royal Wiltshire Yeomanry (only central part remaining); 6th (City of London) Battalion, London Regiment (City of London Rifles) (claimed to be the first of the badges cut); Australian Commonwealth Military Forces (the largest, 51m×32m); Royal Corps of Signals (cut in 1970 to commemorate the Corps' 50th anniversary); Wiltshire Regiment (added in 1950); 5th (City of London) Battalion, London Regiment (London Rifle Brigade); 8th (City of London) Battalion, London Regiment (Post Office Rifles); Centenary Badge (a poppy of 25m diameter with "1916" and "2016" legends); Devonshire Regiment. <http://fovantbadges.com/>

RAF Chilmark

Chilmark Quarries, which has been a stone quarry since the 9th century, its underground limestone mines and the surrounding land, were acquired by the Air Ministry in 1936 and served as a bomb store, RAF Chilmark (also known as No 11 Maintenance Unit), throughout WWII. The depot had a narrow gauge railway, with a spur from the main line at Dinton. The first consignment of war stores arrived in May 1937. There were also immense surface storage bomb and ammunition dumps in other locations in the area, particularly in Grovely Woods about 7 km to the north-east. Unlike most other RAF depots, Chilmark continued in use after the war. In 1994 supplies were transferred to the NATO depot at Glen Douglas in Scotland though, prior to the complete closure in April 1995 with the loss of 200 jobs.

Chiselbury

Chiselbury is the site of an Iron Age univallate hillfort located in Wiltshire. The hillfort is sub-circular in plan, and encloses an area of approximately 10.5 acres. It is defined by an earthen rampart up to 3.6m in height and an external ditch, up to a maximum of 1.6m in depth. A gap in the south eastern side of the rampart, and a corresponding causeway across the ditch, is thought to be the original entrance and is associated with a small 'D' shaped embanked enclosure, which is visible on aerial photographs. Although the enclosure has subsequently been degraded by ploughing, it is still apparent as a series of low earthworks.

WALK DIRECTIONS

Alight from the train in Tisbury Station on the single platform and leave through the station building or to the left of it into the station car park. Turn right through the car park and in 100m, after joining a road, and just before crossing the River Nadder, turn right at Bridge House along a tarmac lane. In 30m turn left along a narrow path along the river, in 30m turn left through a wooden kissing gate and in 70m continue through a riverside meadow along its right hand side (ignore a left fork).

[!] In 420m (and about 100m before the far field corner) turn right through a fence gap to cross a car wide lane that has been running parallel for a while and turn left on the other side to continue in the previous direction. In 100m you emerge from the fenced in narrow grassy path onto a road at a T-junction (Tisbury Row) by a wooden signpost (Station Road $\frac{3}{4}$) and turn left along it.

In 30m turn right through a double wooden gate and walk along a tarmac lane, in 120m ignore a footpath turning right through railway arches and in 35m continue in the same direction along a rising gravel car wide track (where another footpath turns left into the grounds of Tisbury Mill). In 40m go through a metal field gate and continue in the same direction through a couple of sloping grassy fields with the river down on the left. In 460m – in the far right corner of the second field – you go over a stile in the fence line on the right and cross the railway. Go over a stile on the other side and turn left, initially through young trees, later through a mature wood, parallel to the railway.

In 490m the path starts to rise and in 50m it continues as a gravel car wide track past a house on the right. In 100m turn left at a T-junction with a tarmac lane through a level crossing and continue along the lane downhill. In 60m you cross The Nadder on a bridge (with an old mill on the left) and follow the lane past houses and farm buildings in Upper Chicks Grove hamlet.

In 160m – upon reaching a road – you have a choice:

For a Shortcut, turn right with a footpath signpost along the grassy road verge and pick up directions at the end of the text under Shortcut I.

For the main walk you cross Chicks Grove Road and continue in the same direction with a bridleway signpost along a farm track, steadily uphill between trees. In 90m, where the farm track veers left, continue in the same direction along a holloway between hedges. In 500m you emerge from the holloway into an arable field's corner with views back across the Nadder Valley and cross it towards the middle of the wood over the brow of this large field (345°). [Depending on the farmer's ploughing and path-making this might mean, that you have to turn right (65°) first, towards a gap in a wood (West Wood), and then bear half left in the arable field along a path through it.]

In about 130m you can see a wooden gate at the opposite field boundary, aim for this. In 360m continue along the opposite grassy field margin and in 40m walk through the wooden gate onto a road where you turn right. In 130m turn right with a bridleway signpost through a gap to the left of a double metal field gate along a car wide forest track into Pits Wood. In 110m you fork left to stay to the left of a row of trees, with a field on the right. You now get occasional glances on the right through the trees to the distant Fovant Down, with some of the Fovant Badges, which have been cut into the chalk (the afternoon route will pass by them much closer).

In 330m continue into trees at the end of the field on the right and in 250m walk through a metal field gate into a large grassy field (Chilmark Common, used by a pheasant farm) to continue along its right hand boundary. In 200m leave the field in the far right corner through a wooden gate in the wire fence and turn left (due N) along a grassy fenced in path. In 280m you walk through a metal gate into a grassy field and continue in the same direction with trees on the right and through a dip. In 190m keep to the left of a fence around farm buildings and in 80m at the top of a rise veer slightly right towards the bottom right corner of the field. In 100m walk through a wooden gate to the right of a metal field gate and turn left along a road into Portash hamlet (part of Chilmark village).

In 300m go through a wooden gate into the grassy field on the right and follow its left hand boundary (with wonderful views back along this U-shaped valley). In 270m you walk through a wooden gate and continue in the same direction towards trees, but in 10m [!] fork right with a bridleway marker on a post on the left and in 10m you leave the wood back into another grassy field through a metal gate to continue along a fenced in path. In 150m continue in the same direction through a metal gate into a wood at a four-way bridleway/footpath junction (there is a footpath marker just behind the gate on a low wooden pole on the right). In 60m emerge from the wood through a metal gate into another sloping grassy field and follow its left hand side, curving left along the edge of the hanging wood on the left (Upper Holt, also full of bluebells in season).

You continue with views down this valley and towards Compton Down rising behind it in the middle distance and in 150m you can see the top of the buildings in Teffont Evias village, incl. Teffont Manor and Church. In 290m you pass a corrugated iron shed on the left and in another 40m you go over a stile in the upper left corner of the field and cross a car wide track to continue – a little to the left – through a metal gate into another grassy field. Aim for a stile in the opposite fence line 200m away (85°, to the left of some houses) and – once over the stile – continue along a wire fence with a paddock behind it on the right.

In 15m Shortcut I joins from the right through a metal field gate.

) In 70m go over a double stile and continue through another grassy field in the same direction towards a metal field gate to the left of houses 170m away. Walk through the field gate, in 25m through another and in 15m cross the Teff Stream to then [!] turn right along a road on the opposite pavement. In 40m turn left with a bridleway signpost up a narrow earthen path with a garden fence on the left. In 150m ignore a path turning right over a stile into a grassy field and follow the earthen path further uphill. In 90m pass a wooden gate in the fence line on the left, just before you bear right with the path and in 60m you turn right at a three-way footpath junction at the top of the rise.

In 135m leave the wood through a metal field gate to continue in the same direction along a fenced in path between grassy fields and with fishing ponds down on the right. This route across The Common is the old 'Coffin Path' from Teffont Magna to Dinton Church, and remained in use as such until 1925. In 220m cross a farm track and continue in the same direction into a small wood, which you leave in 310m to continue a little to the right along a fenced in grassy path through a sloping grassy field.

In 240m the path bears left, now with a wood on the right and in 150m you enter trees again through a wooden gate into the NT-owned Dinton Park.

In 50m emerge through a wooden kissing gate into the open parkland, a stunning setting any time of the year, and continue in the same direction over a brow towards the right of a clump of trees without a clear path (100°). [A detour up to the top of the rise on the left would give you a chance to spot the spire of Salisbury Cathedral]. After about 100m the view opens up, with Wick Ball Camp (an Iron Age hillfort site) up over the shoulder on the left, Philipps House on the left and the sloping park, Hyde's House and Dinton Church ahead (due E). Ignore all paths off and head in an easterly direction towards the right of the church, whose tower and flag pole you can see just above some tree tops 600m away.

In 500m pass a fence corner on the left around the grounds of Hyde's House (a former rectory named after Edward Hyde, future Lord Chancellor under Charles II, and first Earl of Clarendon), and in 90m turn left through a wooden kissing gate into the church yard of St. Mary's, Dinton. Walk around the left hand side of the church (usually open) and leave the church yard up some steps and along a gravel path on the other side. In 25m turn right along a lane and in 20m cross a road to continue – a little to the left – along a narrow path to the right of 'The Small House' with a footpath signpost. In 55m walk through a wooden kissing gate into a grassy field and follow its left hand boundary fence. In 105m pass a large solitary oak tree on the right and in 30m turn left through the second of two wooden gates to continue along a fenced in path.

Ignore all ways off and in 410m walk through a wooden kissing gate into a large grassy field. Continue along its right hand boundary hedge, in 125m ignore a metal gate on the right, and in 30m leave the field in a right corner through a metal kissing gate. Continue between houses, in 30m turn right along a tarmac cul-de-sac (Backlands) and in 190m turn left at a T-junction with a main road (Hindon Road). In 230m find the lunch stop The Wyndham Arms on the left (the alternative lunch stop The Penruddocke Arms is located another 1.3 km along this road (= 1.1 km off route).

After lunch you have a choice:

For a Shortcut turn right along the road (i.e.: re-trace your steps from pre-lunch) and pick up the directions at the end of this text under Shortcut II.

For the main walk turn left out of the pub, i.e.: continue in the pre-lunch direction. In 150m turn right along a tarmac lane just before a thatched stone bus shelter. In 50m this turns to a wide grassy path. In 230m cross the railway through wooden kissing gates on either side and in 350m turn right around the mill house of Dinton Mill (recently refurbished and run as a commercial fishery with seven beats on The Nadder). In 50m cross the river on a two-railed wide wooden bridge with the mill pond outflow on the right and continue in the same direction along a car wide gravel track.

In 470m turn right at a bend in a road and start ascending, with the fine parkland and landscaped lakes of Compton Park occasionally visible on the left through trees. In 750m, where the road levels out, the onwards route turns up right with a footpath signpost along a track, but a short detour to the 14th century church of St. Michael, Compton Chamberlayne is recommended: turn left through a wooden gate, signposted 'To The Church', walk along a gravel path with a private garden on the right and in 90m reach the church, with Compton House just behind at a lower level.

The track continues uphill with Compton Wood on the right and in 260m you walk through a metal field gate (the path has levelled out). In 15m you get your first views on the left of The Fovant Badges, regimental badges cut into Fovant Down to commemorate Military Units that were encamped in the area before being sent out to fight in WWI. In 320m veer right at a farm track junction around a barn and in 30m stay to the left of a hedge with a marker on a pole. In 60m you fork right along a farm track with a footpath sign on the right (often hidden in summer) with a field on the right. In 680m you have a wood on the right and in 180m you turn right into the wood. In 10m turn left inside the wood to continue parallel with its boundary along a narrow forest track and with the wood soon dropping off steeply on the right.

In about 170m you can occasionally see – back over the shoulder – through Fovant Wood some very large beige roofs down in the valley on the right in Dinton, these belong to storage sheds formerly used by RAF Chilmark, but now used by private enterprises though (they are also on the OS map). In 1 km drop down to a car wide gravel path and turn left uphill, with a fenced in reservoir on the left.

In 20m, at the brow, you have a choice:

For an Extension to – and through – the Fovant Badges and up onto Fovant Down continue in the same direction along the track, gently descending, and pick up the directions at the end of this text under Extension.

For the main walk turn right and up over a stile in a hedge and turn right along an arable field boundary. In 150m you pass a trig point in the field on the left (159m above sea) and keep following the field boundary with Fir Hill Plantation on the right through a couple of turns. In 620m you turn right through a metal kissing gate at the end of the wood. The Extension joins along the field boundary out of the valley.

*) In 60m turn right, keeping to the edge of the wood and ignoring a track veering down the sloping grassy field towards a road, with Fovant Village below on the left. In 120m though turn left down the slope with the path and in 70m walk through a metal kissing gate onto a lane by a footpath signpost (Compton Chamberlayne 1 ½). Veer right to cross the lane and continue along an easy-to-miss narrow path with trees on the left. In 15m turn left along a fenced in path with a yellow marker and in 40m continue in the same direction to the right of a fenced in paddock. In 150m Shortcut II joins from the right along a path out of trees.

) In 10m cross the Fovant Brook on a concrete bridge and in 45m fork left for 25m to a tarmac lane (but for a recommended diversion fork right and then turn right along Church Lane past Fovant Cattery and Fovant House and in 170m reach Fovant Church [usually open] with its many WWI graves and a war memorial). Else turn left along Church Lane and in 140m turn right at a four-way junction of lanes along Moor Hill (signposted Tisbury). In 230m you fork ever so slightly left along a gravel lane with a byway signpost, where the tarmac lane turns up to the right (and with Moor Hill Cottage on the left). In 50m this continues as a narrow path between trees. Ignore all ways off and all stiles over fences into fields or gardens and in 430m continue along a tarmac lane by Glebe Cottage on the left.

Turn right with a wall on the right (and the Nadder Valley below to the right) and curve left through a grassy field on an incline with a wood on the left (initially 295°). In 170m go over a stile to the left of a metal field gate and in 50m go over a stile into an arable field corner, and turn half right to cross this field diagonally towards a red-roofed white house on a usually well-cleared path (335°) and in 270m continue down a tarmac lane at a bend (i.e: do not turn right). In 110m turn left at a small car park belonging to Sutton Mandeville Mill (below behind a hedge, one of seven former corn mills on a 15 km stretch of The Nadder), and [!] in 12m fork left with a handwritten white footpath sign in a hedge, where the driveway turns right and down to the mill.

The path turns right around Mill Cottage and in 60m it turns left over a stream on a slab bridge. In 15m go up some steps and over a stile into a large grassy sloping field and ascend it along an often faint path (290°) and in 230m to the right of a clump of oak trees. Later ignore several stiles in the fence line on the right (turn around here though to enjoy a last glimpse of some of the Fovant Badges) and head broadly for the far right field corner, but walk through a metal field gate onto a tarmac lane 20m before the far corner to continue in the same direction into Chicksgrove hamlet. In 45m turn left at a T-junction with a road and in 15m find the early tea option The Compasses Inn (not open until 18.00 hours) on the right.

In 120m turn right along a farm track where the road levels out (signposted The Brambles), in 270m pass large farm sheds and in 300m a footpath joins from the left through a metal kissing gate out of a large grassy field. In 15m ignore a footpath turning right through a metal kissing gate into an arable field. [!] In 180m turn right at the corner of a wooded strip on the right through a car wide un-marked gap in the trees and then turn left across an arable field on a usually well-cleared path (300°), still uphill. In 320m walk through a narrow boundary gap into the adjacent field (off to the half right you can see some houses alongside a lane) and descend through it in the same direction. In 225m turn left in the field corner through a car wide gap into trees. In 40m enter a neighbouring arable field and continue in the same direction, uphill along its right hand boundary.

In 240m – at a fence corner on the right – cross this arable field's corner veering right (280°) along a usually well-trampled path towards Haredene Farm 450m away. From the brow of this field you can see: on the left and slightly behind the wooded Castle Ditches hill top site (SWC Walk Tisbury Circular (via Alvediston)], while the wooded hill half left ahead is High Wood [SWC Walks Tisbury Circular (via Donhead St. Andrews)]. Inbetween and behind these two hills runs Swallowcliffe Down. Ahead is Tisbury on the other side of the Nadder Valley, with the wooded hills of the Fonthill Estate behind and around it [SWC Walk Tisbury Circular (via Dinton)].

In 440m you cross a farm track and then go over a stile into a small grassy area and veer right along a clear path through the grass. In 60m go over a stile to the left of a rusty metal field gate to continue to the left of the thatched farm house along a grassy path with trees on the left, which soon narrows and descends between trees. In 160m the path turns left just before reaching a railway line and in 40m it turns right through a metal gate and an arched underpass to emerge on the other side of the tracks on a tarmac lane (Tisbury Mill – 35m to the right – is well worth a look: a footpath turns left through its grounds and to a walkable weir over The Nadder).

walk through a gap in a fence line and turn right towards a metal kissing gate on the upper boundary of the grassy area.

In 90m walk through the gate and turn left along a road into Tisbury. In 570m you reach the main road through Tisbury at a T-junction:

- you have Tisbury Fish & Chips on your left and Beatons Tearoom Bookshop opposite;
- you find Tisbury Delicatessen up along the road on the left and The Beckford Bottle Shop on the right;
- you find The Bennett pub a further 90m up along the right;
- you find the recommended Boot Inn another 205m up along the right.

For the station turn left along the road and in 170m cross a bridge over The River Nadder. Fork left up through the station car park to access the platform at the far end of the station building in 100m, or first continue along the road for 130m to the recommended (pub) tea stop The South Western.

Shortcut I

(cut 1.4 km, 25m of ascent/descent and 100m from the tarmac count)

In 50m continue along the road where the grassy verge ends and in 20m turn right through a hedge gap and a metal gate into a large riverside grassy field, where you turn left along its left hand edge. Continue through a few grassy fields and metal gates or field gates and in 550m turn left through a metal gate in the far corner of a field back onto the road, where you turn right into Lower Chicksgrove. In 260m you ignore a road turning off to the right (signposted Sutton Row) but in another 60m [!] turn left uphill off the road with a footpath signpost along a narrow holloway between trees.

In 300m the path levels out and enters a wood, in 40m you pass remnants of a walled enclosure and a pond beyond it on the left and in 120m metal field gates on both sides provide for some views, before the path continues between trees. In 180m start descending as you enter Chicksgrove Wood and in 200m you turn left on a road. In 40m turn right through an open, formerly barbed-wire secured, metal field gate and walk through a concreted yard abandoned by RAF Chilmark. In 40m continue in the same direction along a car wide farm track, soon crossing a stream on the track and then ascending with the track.

In about 300m the track levels out and the trees on the right discontinue and in 20m you continue in the same direction at a junction with a farm track at a bend. In 350m ignore a path turning right between trees (towards Ley Farm) and in 500m pass the entrance gate to Home Farm on the left (the lane turns tarmac). In 50m the track turns right between high banks (Teffont Manor is visible ahead) and in 25m you [!] turn left up a narrow path in the side of the earth bank at a footpath cross paths. At the top of the bank go over a stile and continue along the left hand side of a grassy field, with some sheds to your left. In 60m you go over a stile in a fence and continue in the same direction with the fence on your left.

In 50m you turn left over a stile in the field's corner into the aptly named Long Meadow and turn right along its right hand edge. In 50m you walk between hedges and in 70m you walk across a single-railed plank bridge over a ditch to then turn left through a private garden along its wooden fence. In 40m turn right in a tarmac cul-de-sac and in 30m turn left at a T-junction with a tarmac lane. In 50m turn right with a footpath signpost where a car wide bridleway continues ahead in the same direction. Follow a few markers over a stile into a paddock and then into another paddock, and in 140m walk through a metal field gate into a large grassy field. The main walk joins from the left over a stile 15m away.

Shortcut II (cut 1.9 km and 21m of ascent/descent)

In 400m pass the NT-owned Little Clarendon on the right (the small building on the road is a Catholic Chapel). In 50m fork right along Snowhill with the Dinton Community Shop (coffee, tea, cakes) ahead of you between the road forks. In 440m fork left at a small green in front of Dinton Church and in 25m cross a road into a National Trust car park a little to the left and walk along its right hand side, in 25m entering a small wood. In 60m you exit over a stile or through a wooden kissing gate into Dinton Park and bear left across the grass, aiming well to the right of a lake on the left (230°).

Ignore a stile into a fenced in wooded strip on the lake fringe and after 400m (from entry into the Park) leave over a stile in the boundary hedge by a signpost (Dinton Church ¼) , cross the B 3089 and go over a stile on the other side into a grassy field. Veer right on a bearing of 215°, in 105m walk under an electricity line and in 100m go over a stile in the boundary growth and veer right in the neighbouring field towards the left of some large grey barns. In 170m go over a stile in a fence, to continue in the same direction through a grassy area and in 100m enter Edwards Copse over a stile. In 50m leave the wood and cross an arable field to a point 30m to the right of an obvious gap in the boundary growth (the old, but now diverted, footpath route).

In 110m you turn left on a dog leg down a narrow Permissive Path and then through a narrow and low underpass under the railway line. Enter a riverside meadow through a metal kissing gate and turn right through it, towards the left hand corner of the buildings of Teffont Mill Farm (i.e.: ignoring stiles in the fence both on the left halfway down the field, as well as to the right of the buildings). In 200m go over a stile in the far field corner and then across a two-railed plank-bridge over a mill stream. Walk along a wooden fence on the right and in 30m turn right with the fence, and right again in another 50m at another fence corner.

You are now following the obvious and well-marked route around to the other side of The Nadder River (and several side streams), as it disgorges from the mill weir into the mill pond, over a few bridges and stiles and through gates until you emerge into a grassy field in 150m, now with The Nadder on your left. In 50m walk through a kissing gate and then cross a wooden bridge over the Fovant Brook and continue uphill through a few trees. In 30m you walk through a kissing gate and cross a narrow arable field on an obvious path (170°). In 50m turn right along the opposite boundary with a dismantled railway line behind a fence on the left (used during WWI for supply of the extensive camps in Fovant).

In 220m, close to the end of the field, veer right and in 30m go through a metal kissing gate and continue along the left hand side of a neighbouring field. In 160m turn left through a metal kissing gate and turn right through a grassy field with large bramble bushes (the wood on the left behind barbed wire fences is Fovant Wood, it was used until the 1990s by RAF Chilmark for explosives' storage). In 50m leave through a metal kissing gate into a wooded strip, in 15m cross a car wide farm track, and go over a stile into an arable field.

Continue in the same direction across this field and leave it in 200m over a stile (or through a gap 10m left of it) into a small wooded strip near a bend in a road (Catherine Ford Lane). In 10m turn right in the wooded strip and go over a stile into an arable field, which you cross towards its far right corner 400m away. Turn right 10m before the far right corner by a redundant stile and descend along a path through trees. In 100m reach a T-junction of paths. The main walk joins from the left.

Turn right and pick up the directions in the main text at the triple asterisk ***).

Extension

(add 5.1 km, 154m of ascent/descent and 560m to the tarmac count)

Walk to the bottom of Fovant Down, up the scarp through the Fovant Badges, around the rim of the Chiselbury Iron Age hill fort site, along the ridge and back down further along Fovant Down through Fovant village

You have far views on the right to the West along the Down's Escarpment and across a largely wooded valley, as well as occasional views on the left through gaps in the hedge towards the Fovant Badges on the flanks of Fovant Down. This whole area was a huge army camp during WWI. In 1 km you cross the A30 and continue in the same direction along a tarmac lane with a bridleway signpost. In 280m you have a last chance to avoid the climb up the Down by turning right at a farm track junction at the corner of a brick garden wall on the right (follow the farm track for 470m, turn right with the track and pick up the directions at the quadruple asterisk ) below).

In 850m (mostly between trees) ignore a wide gap in the right hand hedge by a wood's corner. In 115m turn right at a four-way junction of tracks with a footpath signpost on the right through a metal field gate (a sign on it prohibits motorised vehicles – except agricultural vehicles). Follow a narrow path through the wood (310°), ignore a few tracks to the right into small clearings and in 270m (after the path has left the trees and started a steep descent between raised banks down the Down), [!] turn right along a narrow path between banks (50°). In 320m walk through a metal gate and turn left into an arable field corner at the bottom of the Down and follow its right hand grassy boundary. In 470m continue in the same direction where the hedge on the right discontinues, and in 30m walk through a metal gate to continue along a car wide grassy track. In 65m walk through a metal field gate and turn left along a farm track at a bend.

) In 150m you can spot a spring-fed pond on the left through trees and in 25m you continue along a residential lane, ignoring a left turn towards the signposted 'Main Road'. In 190m turn right at a four-way junction with that main road (the A30), ignore High Street turning off left, pass the (closed up) Pembroke Arms pub and in 85m turn left up some steps with a signpost (Compton Chamberlayne 1 ³/₄). Walk through a metal kissing gate into a grassy field and continue along its left hand side. In 110m walk through a metal kissing gate and continue in the same direction along a grassy field's left hand side. Continue in the same direction uphill along a few field's boundaries, ignoring all stiles, gates and one metal kissing gate with yellow markers on it, until – in 780m – you reach a corner of a wood near the top of the rise. The main walk comes down from along the wood. Turn left through a metal kissing gate.

Continue along the wood's edge and pick up directions in the main walk text at the double asterisk **).
